

Why this retreat may be different

I have led retreats before together with Peter Orevi.

We both have long experience with many different practices and approaches.

More important than that, we both come from a deep interest in truth, openness, and direct experience.

We will lead this retreat from that place of openness.

In earlier retreats together, unexpected depth and clarity have sometimes emerged — for us as well as for the participants.

The price has not yet been decided.

If you feel curious, or if you think this retreat may be for you, you are welcome to send an email to me or Peter Orevi.
